The Lehigh Music Department is devoted to the study, performance and appreciation of music, with a special commitment to collaboration across disciplines in the study of music as art and social practice. We offer a multiplicity of courses to educate our students in choral studies, composition, conducting, ethnomusicology, history, jazz, performance, recording technology, theory, and other subjects. We encourage majors and non-majors, undergraduates and graduate students alike to participate in our ensembles large and small, including choral groups, jazz orchestras and combos, Korean percussion ensemble, marching band, philharmonic orchestra, string and wind ensembles, symphonic band and West Javanese gamelan ensemble. Our students enjoy many opportunities to collaborate with renowned guest musicians, and we employ a staff of illustrious instructors for students who wish to take private instrumental or vocal lessons.

Our department is located within the Zoellner Arts Center, and features a music library, practice rooms, a composition and digital class piano studio, a comprehensive recording studio, classrooms, rehearsal rooms, and a state-of-the-art concert facility, Baker Hall.

Professors. Tong Soon Lee, PhD (University of Pittsburgh); Paul F. Salerni, PhD (Harvard University); Steven P. Sametz, DMUS (University of Wisconsin); William Warfield, Mmus (Manhatan School of Music)

Associate Professor. Eugene O. Albulesc, AD (Indiana University Bloomington)

Professors Of Practice. David B. Diggs, Mmus (State University of NY at Stony Brook); Michael Jorgensen, DMUS (Florida State University); Sun Min Lee, Mmus (Westminster Choir College)

Emeritus. Nadine J. Sine, PhD (New York University)

MAJOR PROGRAM
The Bachelor of Arts in Music program comprises three components: foundation courses, electives, and the capstone project. Foundation courses train students in music history and theory, as well as fundamental musicianship and performance skills. Together with a broad range of electives designed to help students identify individual areas of interest, these courses will give students the necessary skills and knowledge to develop the capstone projects that bring their academic efforts and ambitions to fruition.

The Music Major requires a minimum of 36 credits.

OPTIONS FOR MAJORING IN MUSIC
Lehigh attracts many engineering and science students, as well as English, business, and accounting majors, who wish to continue their active involvement in music. Those students who wish to combine their scientific or engineering pursuit with music should take a look at the Arts/Engineering program or at IDEAS. Beyond those curricula, students in engineering, business, or other majors can, with good time management, pursue either a dual degree or a double major. For more information on these two options, please see https://cas.lehigh.edu/content/double-majors-and-dual-degrees.

PRIVATE LESSONS
Lessons in most instruments and voice may be taken for one credit per semester; students may also enroll for no credit to avoid overloading. Lessons must be arranged through the department at set fees that are not included in tuition. Please note that registering for lessons does not guarantee availability, due to occasional difficulties in scheduling.

PERFORMING GROUPS
Admission to performing ensembles is by audition (except for Choral Union, Symphonic Band, and Marching 97, which are open to all students). Students receive one credit per semester by registering for the appropriate course number. Students may also register for zero credit, as indicated in the catalog. Although there is no limit to the number of these courses that may be taken, students should check with their advisor to determine the number of credits that may be applied toward graduation.

COURSE OFFERINGS
PLEASE NOTE: The course offerings are currently under revision and may not all be available at the time of registration.

Please see the Music Department Webpage (https://music.cas2.lehigh.edu/) for more information regarding Courses and Programs.
